Of Charles F. Browne, (Artemus Ward). The Voice, of Cleveland says, that once at Vincennes, Ind., where he had been lecturing, "he was grossly insulted by a very consequential depot baggage master. This fellow, out of a desire to show his authority, had used him very roughly on some trifling pretext. Browne meditated revenge, and walked up and down the platform of the depot for fully fifteen minutes in deep study. Suddenly a basket of eggs attracted his attention, and he bought about a dozen of them. He put three or four in his own pockets, and gave as many to two friends who were with him. Then he took them in the baggage car and awaited his opportunity. In a few moments the train began to move, and immediately Browne and his friends made a target of that man, the first egg hitting him on the nose, and the others decorating him at irregular intervals. One of the persons who saw the occurrence says that the look on the baggage master's face as the shower of eggs came upon him was indescribable.—Browne was in the happiest mood for the remainder of the trip, and appeared entirely satisfied with his revenge."

LOVE'S GALLOP.

I.

She and I, years ago,
Took a ride;
Through the wind, through the snow,
Side by side!
Through the fog, through the fen—
Weary land!—
On we jogged, steady then,
Rein in hand.

II.

She and I rode again—
Pleasant dream!—
Slacker hands on the rein
By a stream;
Never mist, never showers—
Why not sing?
Trotting fast through the flowers
Kissed by Spring.

III.

Through the moss, through the fern,
Through the heat—
'Neath the blue, by the burn,
Firm in seat—
Rosy-cheeked—"Life or death!"
Is our cry.
Galloped now out of breath,
She and I.

IV.

Faster still—cares behind
We outpaced;
On we rode, through the wind,
Till we raced
Side by side. Neither gains—
Why not die?
Still we held to the reins,
She and I.

V.

Oh! the turf, how it rang
To our steeds,
As they raced and they sprang
O'er the meads!
Oh! the words and their gold,
On the day
When the reins from our hold
Slipped away!

DO ANIMALS RESIST TEMPTATION?—Temptation frequently begets in the dog, cat, and, other animals the same kind of mental or moral agitation, and the same sort of result, as in man. Sometimes we can see—in the dog, for instance—the whole play of the animal's mind—the battle between its virtuous and vicious propensities, its promptings to the right and its endeavors to stick by the right, its longing for the wrong—for the titbit, which it knows it would be improper to steal—and the final triumph either of virtue or temptation.—The poor animal, knowing or feeling the weakness of the flesh, sometimes has the moral strength, the force of character the good sense to avoid temptation altogether. But dogs, like men, are apt to have the most trying temptations thrust unexpectedly upon them, and then comes the tug of war of the appetites and passions—the moral turmoil that may make shipwreck of or that may strengthen virtue. Sometimes then, by the dog, as by the man, temptation is successfully resisted after perhaps a series of protracted and painful moral struggles that have been very apparent to the onlooker. Unfortunately, however, equally in dog and man, the resistance of temptation is less common by far than non-resistance or non-success in resistance, the result of which is various forms or degrees of wrong-doing.

The persistent search for new gums ailed to gutta-percha and rubber has been rewarded by a new gum, which has been named "Balata." It is won from the "bully-tree," a native of the Amazon region, and in appearance it is said to closely resemble gutta-percha, though it is tougher and more flexible. It is tasteless and has an agreeable oder when warmed. It may be joined piece to piece at 220 Fahrenheit and melts at 270 Fahrenheit; is soluble in cold benzine and carbon desulphide and in warm turpentine. It may be strongly electrified by friction, and is a better insulator than gutta-percha. It is thought that the gum will find many uses in the arts.

The boy who has nothing to do is the most miserable of beings. If you have no regular work, do little jobs, as farmers do when it rains too hard to work in the field. In occupation we may forget our troubles. The boy whose hands and mind are busy, finds no time to weep and wail. If work is slack, spend the time in reading. No one ever knew too much. The hardest students in the world are the old men who know the most.

Experiments show that carbolic spray when thrown upon a wound prevents all unhealthy development, and the London surgeons have adopted it in all cases, the removing of limbs especially.

The Smith family recently held a reunion in New Jersey. Their principal sentiment was: "Pocahontas, the preserver of our race."

Some people will commit crime with one foot in the grave. A woman 100 years old is reported as learning to play an accordeon up in Vermont.

Human life is everywhere a state in which much is to be endured, and little to be enjoyed.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22d, 1879.

The infamous character of Democratic methods by which they hope to capture the Presidency and Congress next year are beginning to develop themselves on all hands; that fraud and violence still used in the South is shown by the election in Louisiana, and by the fact the negro exodus is still going on from every Southern State. The declared determination of the Democratic Senate to unseat Senator Kellogg of Louisiana, is another evidence of their purpose. The Maine counting-out iniquity is a strong point in proof that the Northern Democrats are no better than their Southern fellows, and that all they have ever wanted was a chance to show their infamy. The corrupt manipulators in that State have done even worse than we feared, and have gone so far as to frighten many of those here who have sense enough to know that such things will only react against them among intelligent people. The general opinion here is that the Maine people will not submit to be deprived of their rights by a counting-out board of usurpers, and that they will organize a Legislature, and turn out the present rascally combination, never to be heard of again in public life.

General Grant will be here in a few days previous to going to Cuba. Many of his friends now announce that he is a candidate for President, that "all these receptions have not been for nothing" and that "he is working his cards shrewdly for the Republican nomination."

When Dan Voorhees introduced his resolution of inquiry as to the causes of the exodus he put his foot into it, as he generally does: Senator Windom took occasion to expose the bad treatment to which all Republicans are subjected to in the South, as a very plain reason for their flight. Before he got through with the subject many Democratic Senators were sorry Voorhees had been allowed to spread himself on this subject, and finally nearly all the Democrats voted against the resolution. It was passed by Republican votes, and it is Republicans, and not Democrats who want to know what causes the dissatisfaction of negroes in the South. Senator Windom made a speech that will prove troublesome to Democrats.

Senator Cameron, as Chairman of the National Committee, will make the next campaign lively, and organize victory at the beginning. This is the verdict of all Republicans and I notice since the meeting of the National Committee here, the Democrats look blue.

MAXWELL.

The United States Coast and Geodetic surveying party, wintering in Carson, have received orders from the Department at Washington to make a magnetic survey of the Comstock. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

PIONEERS' REUNION.

The great event of the season, and one that had been looked forward to with much interest by those who were so fortunate as to receive invitations, came off on Wednesday evening, when the Bodie Pacific Coast Pioneers gave their Reunion Banquet at Pitcher's Grand Central Hotel.

At 10 o'clock the Pioneers and guests took seats at the tables, a brass band stationed in the hall playing a march as the ladies and their escorts filed into the dining room. Two long tables were spread and loaded with every delicacy, and arranged with great taste. The large mirror at the lower end of the room had inscribed on it in German text "Happy New Year! Pioneers." Near the entrance was a small table for the press of Bodie, which was represented by John I. Ginn, of the Standard, H. Z. Osborne, of the Free Press and A. C. Folger of the CHRONICLE. The News was not represented.

The first table was presided over by the President of the Pioneers, Col. B. B. Jackson, with the Second Vice President, E. M. Folger, at the foot. Dr. H. B. Davison, First Vice President, presided at the second table, with Marshal H. M. Harrington at the foot.

After the viands had received attention, the regular toasts were proposed by Second Vice President Folger as follows:

"The President of the United States." Music by the Band "Hail to the Chief." Responded to by Hon. Thomas P. Ryan, in a few pertinent and happy remarks in relation to our Presidents, particularly of Washington and Jefferson, and eulogistic of our great country. Mr. Ryan was loudly applauded.

"The Ladies." Responded to by the President, Col. Jackson in his usual felicitous manner, his remarks being well received, particularly by the fair ones present. The ladies like to be well thought of and we are sure they were all pleased with all the good things the Colonel had to say of them.

The Old Year being about to expire, Mrs. Selden Hetzel arose and read Tennyson's "Death of the Old Year." Mrs. Hetzel is a fine reader, and was greatly applauded.

After the reading the band played a dirge, at the conclusion of which, 12 o'clock having arrived Vice President Folger rose and wished the company a "Happy New Year," which was followed by a general shaking of hands and interchange of the "compliments of the season."

Mrs. Hetzel then recited Tennyson's great poem "The New Year," and received deserved applause for the manner in which she rendered it. Music "Yankee Doodle."

Dr. Davison was then called upon for a speech, to which he responded with a few humorous remarks which were well received by his listeners.

Jesse Summers, the great cattle owner of Mono county, sent in a wholesale lot of champagne with a request that the assembly drink to the "New Year" with him. The company drank, wishing the generous donor many a "Happy New Year."

During the evening the company was favored with singing, instrumental music, recitations, etc. Mrs. Higson, a member of the Pioneer Society, recited "Shamus O'Brien" very finely, although she feared she would not be able to do so, as she had made no rehearsal. Her efforts were received with rounds of applause. The band then played an Irish air.

Vice President Folger then proposed the next regular toast "The Press of Bodie" and requested the band to play the "Rogues March, but the band, having a high opinion of the Bodie papers, failed to comply. Mr. Folger said he had to apologize for the infliction about to be imposed upon the company; that it was suggested that he respond but his modesty forbid; (a burst of Oh! oh! from all parts of the house) that it was then proposed to select the biggest brag of the Bodie Press; that the Free Press, News and Standard were unsurpassed in that respect and, everything else being equal, H. Z. Osborne, of the Free Press, had been selected, and he would tell the company all about the mighty power and influence of the Bodie Press.

Miss Florence Molinelli, a little 10-year old, recited "The Smack in School" in a manner that "brought the house down." Her recitation was excellent, and the acting was such as would put to shame that of many who strut on the boards of our theaters and call themselves actors. Had it not been for a severe cold the little favorite would have favored the company with another fine recitation.

A Patroni, the veteran and pioneer violinist of California, and E. Berliner, pianist, favored the company with a duet from the "Barber of Seville." They are both masters of their respective instruments, and gave us fine music.

J. N. Harrison favored us with "Not for Joe" and "Dorothy Drew," both of which he sang with great gusto and to the delight of his audience.

Pres. Hunt sang "The Days of '49," and for an encore sang "Mining Stocks."

Mrs. Dr. Davison sang very sweetly a Spanish song and acquitted herself well, although an invalid, having left a sick bed to be with her husband at the banquet.

Ed. Holden gave a fine recitation, "Spartacus to the Gladiators," and received merited applause.

Alex. Hunter, who proved himself an excellent elocutionist, recited "Othello's Apology to the Judges," Poe's "Raven" and "Leedle Yacub Strauss," all receiving rounds of applause.

Morris Gregory, Secretary of the Pioneers, recited a poem, "The Old Sluice Box," which was well received, and generously applauded.

Mrs. Davison again favored the party with "Annie Laurie," accompanying herself on the piano. This sweet song is always acceptable and the fair songstress was warmly applauded.

Mr. Patroni played the "Carnival of Venice" in a masterly style, showing him to be an accomplished musician, and the vociferous applause he received was well bestowed.

Pres. Hunt and Morris Gregory sang "The Southern Soldier's Little Boy" with much feeling, and it was well received.

Mr. and Mrs. Molinelli sang in Italian a selection from "Il Trovatore." They are both fine vocalists, and their singing was listened to with wrapt attention, and at the close were favored with great applause.

Previous to the breaking up of the party, Judge Hetzel left his chair and walking toward the President, expressed his thanks, and that of all the guests, for the generous hospitality of the Pioneers. He was briefly replied to by Col. Jackson, who took occasion to thank Mr. Pitcher for the fine entertainment he had provided. The band then played "Home Sweet Home," and at about 2:30 A. M. the party broke up, after a sitting of over four hours. A more agreeable party has never been given in Bodie. Everything connected with the banquet passed off in the most satisfactory manner. Mr. Pitcher gave the entertainment his personal supervision, and nothing was omitted to make it worthy of the Pioneers and creditable to the Grand Central Hotel; his waiters were attentive and gentlemanly, and the evening passed without any unpleasantness occurring. We trust the Pioneers will flourish and give their friends another reunion in due time.

NEW YEAR'S DAY.—The New Year was ushered in by the blowing of the numerous whistles of our hoisting works and mills, and by the firing of small arms at midnight, and by the Pioneer's at their banquet, as noticed in another column. The weather was as fine as a sealskin purse, and was fully enjoyed by our people, young and old, by sleighriding, punishing turkey dinners, drinking egg nogg, or whiskey, agreeably to one's taste, and making calls. A number of ladies kept "open house," but we fear the number of calls made by their gentlemen friends were limited.

MINING RECORDER.—An election for Recorder of Bodie Mining District was held on Wednesday last, the polls opening at 10 o'clock and closing at sundown. The vote was 1,215 as follows: George McCartney, incumbent, 366; John F. McDonnell, 265; Glenn Lowe, 222; R. L. Peterson, 193; B. B. Jackson, 160.

MUST REPORT.—Our county officers, and Notaries, are required by law to report to the County Clerk the amount of fees collected or charged by them for the six months ending, December 31st It will be well for these officers to attend to this matter at once,

PAY YOUR TAXES.—Sheriff Taylor is now here collecting taxes, which must be paid before 6 o'clock on next Monday evening, or costs will be added—and if not paid before January 31st additional costs will be added for advertising.

FEES.—County officers are warned to report amount of fees on or before the Board of Supervisors meet on the 2d of February next, or there will be trouble in the camp.

COUNTY SAFE.—The County Treasurers safe has been placed in the Court House vault, and gives general satisfaction.

"OLD [illegible] same old tune in ground out, at San Francisco, by the editor of our morning cotemporary. If the institution is such a big thing, why does it not find a buyer.

THE BODIE MINES.

SPAULDING.
W. A. Searles, Sup't.

The Spaulding mill is making good headway toward completion. The machinery is all on the ground and being placed in position with dispatch. The 8 pans and 4 settlers are in place, and the engine is also in position. The engine is 60 horse power and is from the Fulton Foundry, San Francisco. The boiler, already set, is of steel, 16 feet long, and 54 inches in diameter. The battery room is 26x40 feet and the pan room 48x63 feet. The tank room is 32x36, and the boiler and engine room 23x43, with a wing, 10x23 feet. The retort house is south of and detached from the main works, and is 16x20 feet. When completed the Spaulding will be one of the best mills of its size in the State, and we have no doubt of its being able to have all the custom ore it can handle.

TIOGA.
C. H. Golding Supt.

The main shaft has been sunk and timbered 6 feet since last report, and is now down 727 feet. Have passed through the ledge mentioned in our last report, excepting about 3 feet on the foot wall, and it shows very rich ore. This vein has shown a decided improvement as depth has been attained. There will be no crosscutting for this vein till the 800 level is reached. The Syndicate drift is 642 feet in length, having advanced five feet since last report. The east crossent on the 620 level has been advanced 11 feet this week, and the face is in ground of a very favorable character. The Ralston Winze has attained a depth of 102 below the 620 level—sunk and timbered 8 feet since last report. Everything is working well.

NOONDAY.
John Parham, Supt.

The drifts are being driven ahead with energy and are looking well. The stopes in every part of the mine are looking exceedingly well, and the ore required is being sent to the mill, and assays show that it will pay a good profit for milling. The pumps are doing well, but are used only 6 hours a day. A new cage has been put in the center compartment of the shaft in place of the skip.

The mill is working steadily, and up to its full capacity. A shipment of bullion will probably be made in a few days.

SOUTH BULWER.
John C. Turner, Supt.

The winze from the 350 level is down 82 feet below said level; the ledge looking well, it being about 4 feet wide and the ore of a paying quality. The pumping machinery is all on the ground. The pumps have been put in the mine and the piping is now being put in. The pumps are of the Cope & Maxwell pattern, with 12x18 steam cylinders and 16x18 water cylinders, and all the latest improvements. The boiler is being set, and Superintendent Turner is pushing the work and expects to have the works in running order by Wednesday next.

QUEEN BEE.
J. C. Turner Sup't.

The east crossent on the 400 level is in 80 feet from the shaft. This week several stratas of ore have been struck, and one of them looks very favorable, it being 12 inches in width of a good character of ore. The face is in a stratified formation of quartz, indicative of a close proximity to the Queen Bee ledge, and from the character of the formation the ledge will undoubtedly be solid, and some important developments may be looked for soon.

SOUTH NOONDAY.
J. C. Turner, Supt.

The shaft is down 117 feet—a progress of 7 feet this week. The ground in the bottom is hard blasting porphyry, it being in the footwall or casing of the vein, which is on the east side of the shaft and almost perpendicular. The footwall is well defined and forms one side of the shaft, The shaft will be sent to the 150, when a station will be cut out, and drifts started north and south.

JUPITER.
Porter Holmes, Sup't.

The cutting out of tank stations is the only work going on underground, preparatory to putting down new pumps. A boiler house, 18x38, is being erected for a double set of boilers for the new pumping machinery. The boilers are 16 feet long, with a diameter of 48 inches. Everything will be in order for putting the pumping machinery in position as soon as it arrives.

ROOKER.
A. M. Ellsworth, Sup't.

Crosscutting at the 400 and 480 levels. That at the 400 is in 70 feet; the 480 in 25 feet. The rock in the crossent at the 400 level is becoming iron stained, promising a vein approaching. The tank station at the 480 level has been cut out and plunger No 2 will be put in on Monda. The water continues strong, but the pumps have no trouble in handling it.

ORIGINAL SUMMIT.
A. M. Ellsworth Sup't.

A small prospecting shaft is being sunk on the vein, preparatory to selecting a place for the commencement of a working shaft. The shaft is down 54 feet, and the vein is looking well. This mine is a near neighbor of the Bechtel and Rough and Ready, and promises to be a valuable property.

MAYBELLE.
J. Parham, Sup't.

Still sinking the winze on the vein, and down 54 feet, and the vein is looking well.

MOXO.
H. Aug. Whiting, Sup't.

The heavy body of water struck in the shaft last week has been controlled, and sinking was resumed yesterday morning. The shaft is down 520 feet. The pumps are working well.

ROBBERY.—This morning, at about 2 o'clock, in front of Miss Lou's dance house, Thomas Travis was stabbed to death by Thomas Dillon. It appears that an altercation took place between the parties, during which Dillon inflicted two wounds with a large bowie knife—one in the breast about three inches above the heart, and the other in the back, the former, by a slant penetrating the heart. Within four minutes of his death, after being wounded, Travis shot Dillon in the left side above the hip. An inquest was held by Justice Newman, and the verdict was "that Thomas Travis came to his death from a knife wound inflicted by Thomas Dillon." Travis came from Eureka about ten days ago, and was a native of New Jersey, aged 23 years. Dillon is under arrest. It is not supposed his wound will prove fatal.

INSTALLED.—The newly elected officers of Bodie Lodge No. 279, I. O. O. F. were duly installed on Thursday evening by D. D. G. M. F. W. Willard, as follows: C. W. Foster, N. G; W. W. Springsteed, V. G. G; L. Putnam, R. S; F. Lobdell D. S.; David McVey; Treas.; C. M. Stevens, C.; W. E. Wallace, W.; W. B. Smith, I. G.; Joseph Tippets, O. G. The late ball given by the Lodge was a financial success and we are glad to learn that the Lodge is in a very flourishing condition.

PERSONAL.—Wm. A. Johnson, of the Bodie House, left for San Francisco today on account of his health. It may be that he will extend his trip to the Sandwich Islands and Australia.

We had the pleasure of meeting our time honored friend Governor Blaisdel. He has been looking after his mining interests.

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY.—Mono county has a fine opportunity to test the workings of the Superior Court. The homicide this morning allows Judge Briggs to immediately summon a Grand Jury and speedily try Dillon, thus saving the county great expense.

INTERIM.—With the exception of Justices Courts there are none in existence in California At 12 o'clock on Monday next the Supreme and Superior Courts will be opened for business and the latter will be in session continuously.

SUPERIOR COURT.—On Monday next, under the operations of the new Constitution, Hon. R. M. Briggs, Judge, will open the Superior Court, and thereafter it will be in session at all times, legal holidays excepted.

THE MUSIC.—The music engaged for the Pioneer's Ball on Thursday next will prove the best ever rendered in Bodie. It will consist of three brass instruments and a violin; the same that was in attendance at the banquet.

GOOD—The sleighing in town continue good, but on the hill sides it is far from good, their being much bare ground.

PIONEERS' BALL.—Don't forget the Pioneers' Ball, on Thursday evening next. It will be a grand affair.

WILL APPOINT.—The Board of Supervisers intend to elect a Sheriff at the next meeting—February.

He did not wish to go to the hospital and who blames him? To the sensitive mind, the very idea of being a subject of the county's charity, is repulsive.—No my dear friend, said the stranger mildly, yet decidedly, there is no necessity that I should go to the hospital. I will hire a comfortable room, and a few packages of Frese's Hamburg Tea will put me all to rights. It will strengthen my stomach, restore my appetite, and this continual drowsiness and nervous depression, will leave me, I have been attending too closely to business.

Says the Inyo Independent: The Mexicans of Bevaridge District, who now number about seventy, keep on sending in bulls of gold to the amount of $800 to $1,200 per week. They have seven arastres in operation and two under process of construction.

Governor Garcelon of Maine has concocted a series of questions for the Supreme Court of that State to act upon in regard to his attempt to steal the Legislature of that State.

Many of the quartz mills in Nevada county have been forced to shut down on account of the freezing of the water in the ditches.

Governor Howard, of Dakota, has been stricken with neuralgia of the heart and is not expected to recover.

B. D. Saddler, a member of the Arkansas Legislature, has been assassinated by unknown parties.

One thousand seven hundred of the Arizona mines on sale in New York. Whew!

Governor Kinkead, of Nevada, has appointed M. P Freeman of Elko to the position of Regent of the State University. He has also appointed Ex-Governor Blaisdel as a member of National Committee to arrange for the centennial celebration of the surrender of Yorktown in 1881.

A correspondent of the San Andreas Citizen, writing from Sheep Ranch says: Master Benjamin Stephens, the renowned Knight of the Rein and Horns (goat team) when the weather permits, can be daily seen upon our streets with his team, hauling wood, groceries, etc. Benjamin has persevered until he now has eight trained to the perfection of old work horses, and seem never to lack employment in the way of light jobs. We visited his stables a few days since. He has a separate stall for each goat, and they receive as much attention as veteran stagers. The goats are in good condition, and with their glossy curls of wool, are indeed a novelty, as well as a useful recompense to their young owner.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, JANUARY 3, 1880.

NATURE AND MORALITY.

We cannot kindle when we will
The fire that in the heart resides,
The spirit floweth and is still,
In mystery our soul abides.
But tasks in hours of insight willed
May be in hours of gloom fulfilled,

With aching hands and bleeding feet
We dig and heap, lay stone on stone;
We bear the burden and the heat
Of the long day, and wish it were done.
Not till the hours of light return
All we have built do we discern.

Then, when the clouds are off the soul,
When thou dost bask in Nature's eye,
Ask, how she viewed thy self-control,
Thy struggling, tasked morality.
Nature, whose free, light, cheerful air
Oft made thee in thy gloom despair.

And she, whose censure thou dost dread,
Whose eye thou wert afraid to seek,
See, on her face a glow is spread,
A strong emotion in her cheek.
"Ah," she cries, "that strife divine—
Whence was it, for it is not mine?"

A Pleasant Evening.

As the evenings grow longer, informal gatherings of congenial friends should assemble together to make them pleasant. Last season a gentleman of social tastes hit upon a plan which is worth following. Early in the season he sent a note to families embracing thirty or forty of his friends—no more than his double rooms would seat comfortably—stating that he would be "at home" Friday evenings during the Winter from seven to eleven, and should be glad to have them come when they pleased, do as they pleased, and go when they pleased. They were, to use a current phrase, to make themselves entirely at home. The rooms were brightly lighted, well warmed and ventilated. There were tables for those who wished to play cards or other games an open piano and music for the musically inclined, books, magazines and papers strewn about, easy chairs around the fire for story tellers or visitors. No "refreshments" were served, but in one corner was a table with apples and popped corn, or walnuts and raisins, candy, or—on especially cold nights—an urn of coffee and a plate of doughnuts—to which all were invited to help themselves, or others, as they wanted. Husbands, wives or young people, came alone or together, as was convenient; stayed according to their pleasure; did as they wished, and went, as they came, without more ceremony, than a cheery "good-night." In every way these informal parties were a success.

Young men, don't swear. Swearing never was good for a sore finger. It never cured the rheumatism nor help draw a prize in a lottery. It isn't recommended for liver complaint. It isn't sure against lightning, sewing machine agents, nor any of the ills which beset people through life. There is no occasion for swearing outside of a newspaper office, where it is useful in proof-reading and indispensably necessary in getting forms to press. It has been known, also, to materially assist the editor in looking over the paper after it is printed. But otherwise it is a very foolish and wicked habit.—Oshkosh Christian Advocate.

A LAWYER OF THE OLDEN TIME.—Peter Stephen Duponceau, who came from France to this country as private secretary to Baron Steuben, was admitted to the bar in the year 1785. His acquaintance with languages of Continental Europe secured him a large practice, which did not prevent his paying much attention to the learned societies, of which he was a prominent member.

A young man called on him for advice and began his story thus: "Mr. Duponceau; my father died, and made a will."

"Is it possible?" said Mr. Duponceau, "I never heard of such a thing!"

"I thought it happened every day," said the client.

"This is the first case of the kind that I ever heard of," said Mr. Duponceau.

"Well," said the young man, "if there is likely to be any trouble about it I had better give you a fee," which he did.

"Oh," said Mr. Duponceau, now I think I know what you mean. You mean that your father made a will, and died. Yes, yes, that must be it."

A sensitive man would rather face a loaded cannon's mouth than have a contribution-box shoved under his nose when his sweetheart is eagerly watching him, and he knows there is no money in his pockets. That is what makes so many of our young men look old and care-worn before their time.

People in Lawrence, Kan., say that the best farmer in that vicinity is a woman. She was left a widow ten years ago, with a bit of land and fourteen children. She now owns three large farms.

A sentimental young man thus freely expresses himself: "Even as nature benevolently guards the rose with thorns, so does she endow women with pins."

THE FEASTS OF OUR FATHERS.

James Parton in an address before the New York Historical Society said: This venerable society has seen fit for many years to hold feasts, especially in June, when the festive strawberry gladdens the heart of man. He had asked, why this collation every month? What connection between sandwiches and history? But a venerable member had rebuked him, saying gravely: "Let no man speak disrespectfully of sandwiches here, for sandwiches built this house." One of the first acts of the Puritans in 1629 was to abolish that most time-honored and beloved feast, Christmas. Some of them had made the observance of the day a matter of conscience, and the Governor had spared them "till they should be better informed:" but he had forbidden public games on that day. But in truth the Puritans never succeeded in abolishing Christmas, although they no longer observed it openly, according to the old chronicles. They had simply changed the date on which it had been observed for 3,000 years, and observed it after the old fashion—on the last Thursday of November.

The Puritans had little to make merry with. For years they had nothing to drink but water; and often the only viand was a lobster, with nothing to make salad of. Then it was that the clam made its appearance in history, but often, when the Pilgrims had made ready a feast of ground nuts and clams, the Indians would come and eat it. To put a stop to these breaches of etiquette the Pilgrims hanged a man, not an Indian—that would not have been strange or original—but they hanged one of their own number for stealing from an Indian. In this tragic way the clam appeared in history. In this proud and haughty town the vender of the clam, and even the horse who draws his load, are often mentioned in terms of disparagement; but it is far otherwise in New England, where they have "grand annual Episcopal clam-bakes."

When America began to export furs and tobacco and codfish, the people of the country lived extravagantly. Bringing molasses from the West Indes, they soon learned to make rum of it, and rum became a circulating medium, but rum and tobacco soon vitiated the feast of our forefathers. Even at the meetings of the clergy, the room was often dark with smoke of tobacco and the steam of hot rum. If any one supposed that in colonial times the people were more austerely virtuous than they are now, let him examine the record of society, and he would soon find the magnitude of his error. John Adams, who began the temperance movement in this country, records that the price of rum was in those times a shilling a gallon, though sometimes it was raised to a pistareen, and in small towns there would be a dozen rum taverns, which were alarmingly injurious to the people. Other records show similar facts. From reading Franklin's memoirs the lecturer, in common with others, had thought that sage a temperance man. But the sagacious Franklin, who knew well what to tell, omitted to state that after he became a prosperous gentleman he was no longer a teetotaller.

The absurd and barbarous habit of drinking healths was observed in all its rigor, but even this was to be preferred to the slangy habits of modern times. Later, tea and coffee came into fashion, though chocolate had preceded these dainties in the popular favor, and the chocolate was commonly boiled with sausages and the whole mass eaten with a spoon. The coffee in olden times was probably very bad, and even as late as John Randolph's time there was ground for his immoral remark, "Waiter, if this is tea bring me coffee; if this is coffee bring me tea."

In the time of the Revolution, while the army was striving at Valley Forge, the people in the great cities were living in luxury and extravagance; and later, while the commerce of the country was pouring in wealth, the style of living was incredibly luxurious. The consequences of this extravagance were serious. For one thing it broke up President Washington's Cabinet. Dinners did it. The salaries of the Secretaries were all insufficient to keep up the style of living that was thought necessary.

DR. SPINNEY

No. 11 Kearny Street,

SAN FRANCISCO.

Treats all Chronic and Special Diseases.

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with the frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient can not account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

OFFICE HOURS—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sunday from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5.
